Opposition to New Tax Program Seen as Hearings Near

Some Legislators Look
Askance at Plans to Soak Little Fellow

Washington, April 23—(AP)—The first evidence appeared today of developing opposition to the treasury's drastic plan for collecting from two to six times as much income tax from taxpayers in the low and middle brackets.

Part of a program to raise $3,600,000,000 in new federal revenue, the treasury proposal would impose a schedule of new and higher surtaxes on everyone who pays a penny income tax.

The plan, if adopted, would have the effect of putting a rate as high as 16.5 per cent on the $2,000 bracket of taxable income, compared with the present rate on this bracket of four per cent, plus 10 per cent of that tax added as a special defense levy.

In figuring the normal, or basic, income tax of 4.4 per cent (four per cent plus 10 per cent for defense, a 10 per cent earned income credit is allowed. But in computing the proposed 11 per cent surtax on the first $2,000 bracket, no earned income credit would be deductible.

The first tax applied in the $2,000 bracket, therefore, would be 12.1 per cent (11 per cent surtax plus 10 per cent defense levy.) The 4.4 per cent normal tax would become effective on amounts exceeding the earned income credit, to make the total tax on the remainder of the $2,000 to come to 16.5 per cent.

Example Given
For example, a childless married couple with a net income from salary or wages of $2,500, would have a personal exemption of $2,000, leaving $500 taxable. The surtax would be 12.1 per cent of $500, or $60.50. The normal tax would be 4.4 per cent of $250 ($500 minus earned income credit of 10 per cent of $2,500) or $11. The total tax, which includes the 10 per cent defense levy, would be $71.50.

Under present law the tax would be 4.4 per cent of $250 or $11.

It was estimated that these higher rates would yield an estimated $1,517,100,000 of the new revenues sought. Other levies would produce the remainder.

In normal times, surtaxes are something that cause no concern to income taxpayers in the lower brackets. At present an individual must have a taxable income of more than $4,000 before he has to pay a surtax. If the treasury program is adopted, however, the surtax and the basic tax would apply simultaneously—to the very first dollar of taxable income.

Tax on a Tax
Both the current and the proposed income rates include the 10 per cent defense surtax — or tax-on-a-tax — imposed by congress last year.

The treasury surtax schedule, it was reported authoritatively, already has encountered opposition in the staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, at least as far as some details go.

This also was said to be the case with some members of the house ways and means committee, which will do the actual drafting of the big new tax bill.

After the treasury program was submitted and discussed at the committee's closed meetings Monday and yesterday, several committee members hinted that they were not enthusiastic about some of the proposed surtax rates, especially those applying to the lower incomes. They declined to comment for publication on the treasury plan until it is announced officially by Secretary Morgenthau at public hearings, starting tomorrow.

In the lower brackets, this is what the surtax-plus-present-tax plan would mean in two hypothetical cases:

A single person with an earned income of $1,000 after all allowable deductions except his personal $800 exemption and earned income credit would have to pay a tax of $29 instead of the present $4.

A married couple with two children would pay $100 instead of the present $15 on an earned net income of $3,500, after all deductions except the $2,800 family exemption.

Plan in Brief
The treasury plan, in brief, is as follows:

The present 4 per cent basic rate would be retained. In addition surtaxes would be imposed, beginning at 11 per cent for the first $2,000 of taxable income. To this total of 15 per cent would be added the defense surtax, which is one-tenth of the combined basic tax and the surtax. Thus the effective rate on the bottom bracket would become 16.5 per cent.

(The program was submitted to the ways and means committee behind closed doors and first oral

Border Closed to Germans Escaping Canada Camps

Washington, April 23—(AP)—The United States put a stern new "keep out" policy into effect today for German prisoners of war who seek a haven here after escape from Canada.

The action followed the disclosure that Franz von Werra, Nazi war flier who escaped three months ago from Canada, had jumped bond of $15,000 and fled the United States for Peru.

Von Werra's bond, posted by the German consulate in New York, and a charge connected with his illegal entry January 25 into this country at Ogdensburg, N. Y.

Attorney General Jackson ordered the borders closed to escaped prisoners last night.

Hereafter, Jackson directed, all escaped prisoners reaching the border must be turned back with "any force reasonably necessary." If one should be apprehended after slipping through, the attorney general added, under no circumstances should he be released in the custody of consular officials.

Jackson did not reveal any details of von Werra's flight but it was reported that he left on a Swiss passport after going to the south for a "vacation" with a German consular officer.

From Canada, meanwhile, came indications that the Nazi aviator had used a ship to escape. Col. Hubert Stethem, director of internment operations for the dominion, said that Canadian and British authorities would be prepared "to send a destroyer" in an attempt to intercept the ship on which von Werra was believed en route to Peru.

War Supplies Will Be Kept Going to Britain in Undiminished Bulk says FDR

Washington, April 23—(AP)—In President Roosevelt's judgment, Americans should take a long view of the fighting abroad and resolve to maintain England as the main defense of democracy. In measured tones, he told his press conference yesterday that the war would not be won by one sea fight, or by one defeat in Greece or even the whole Mediterranean.

The people of the United States, he said, should view the struggle in the light of history and not allow themselves to be lifted to a pinnacle one day because of a British victory in the Mediterranean, only to sink to the depths later on word of German successes.

Monthly Minimum Of $30 State Help for Aged Approved

However Illinois General
Assembly's Votes are Inconclusive

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., April 23—(AP)—The state senate passed today the Republican administration bills to place a three per cent tax on Illinois oil production and to double the present taxes on beer and spirituous liquors. The bills now go to the house.

Passage of the oil tax bill was by a vote of 48 to 1 after an unexpected flareup of debate over an amendment permitting oil companies to keep records of their Illinois production in their offices outside the state. Democrats tried unsuccessfully to recall the bill to eliminate the amendment but were beaten by the GOP majority.

The beer and liquor tax bill—raising levies to four cents a gallon on beer and $1 a gallon on liquor—passed 34 to 9. The bills are part of Governor Green's program of replacement taxes to permit the sales tax to drop to two per cent July 1.

Meanwhile the house postponed until tomorrow a passage vote on the two-cent cigarette tax bill.

Springfield, Ill., April 23—(AP)—Both Senate and House of the state legislature were on record today as favoring a $30 minimum monthly old age assistance award, but the votes were inconclusive because each House passed a different bill.

The Senate passed a minimum pension bill yesterday 43 to 1, but a similar measure voted by the House on April 9 remained stationary on the Senate calendar. In order for the $30 pension proposal to receive final enactment one of the two measures would have to pass both Houses.

The bill passed yesterday in the Senate was that of Senator Charles H. Thompson (R-Harrisburg). Like Thompson's bill, the measure of Rep. Oral P. Tuttle (R-Harrisburg), passed with little opposition in the House where it was introduced.

Rep. Reed F. Cutler (R-Lewis-ton), chairman of the Assembly's budgetary commission, estimated the $30 pension plan would increase state expenses $32,000,000 biennially, and inferred that, should the bill reach final passage, the governor would veto it.

Wage-Hour Bill Killed
A Senate committee yesterday killed the wage-hour bill of Senator Richard J. Daley (D-Chicago) while the similar measure of Rep. Edward C. Hunter (D-Rockford) remained under consideration of the House industrial affairs committee.

Both measures would provide a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 40 hours in Illinois.

Following the killing of the Daley bill by the Republican con-

May Boost State's Quota at Forrest

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 23—(AP)—Reports are current that the quota of Illinois draftees to be sent here by June 1 is to be stepped up to 8,000 men.

If such is the case, there will be a total of 21,000 Prairie State troops—National Guardsmen and selectees—on hand when that date rolls around.

The June 1 quota originally was fixed at 5,000 drafted men, but the unconfirmed reports held that this figure would be upped by 3,000.

Camp officers, it was learned, are preparing for the possibility of an enlarged quota. Barracks space would be sufficient, but the men would have to eat in shifts in several mess halls.

591 selectees, representing some 100 Illinois communities, arrived yesterday from Camp Grant and Fort Sheridan. They were in addition to the 900 Chicago trainees who came from Camp Grant last week.

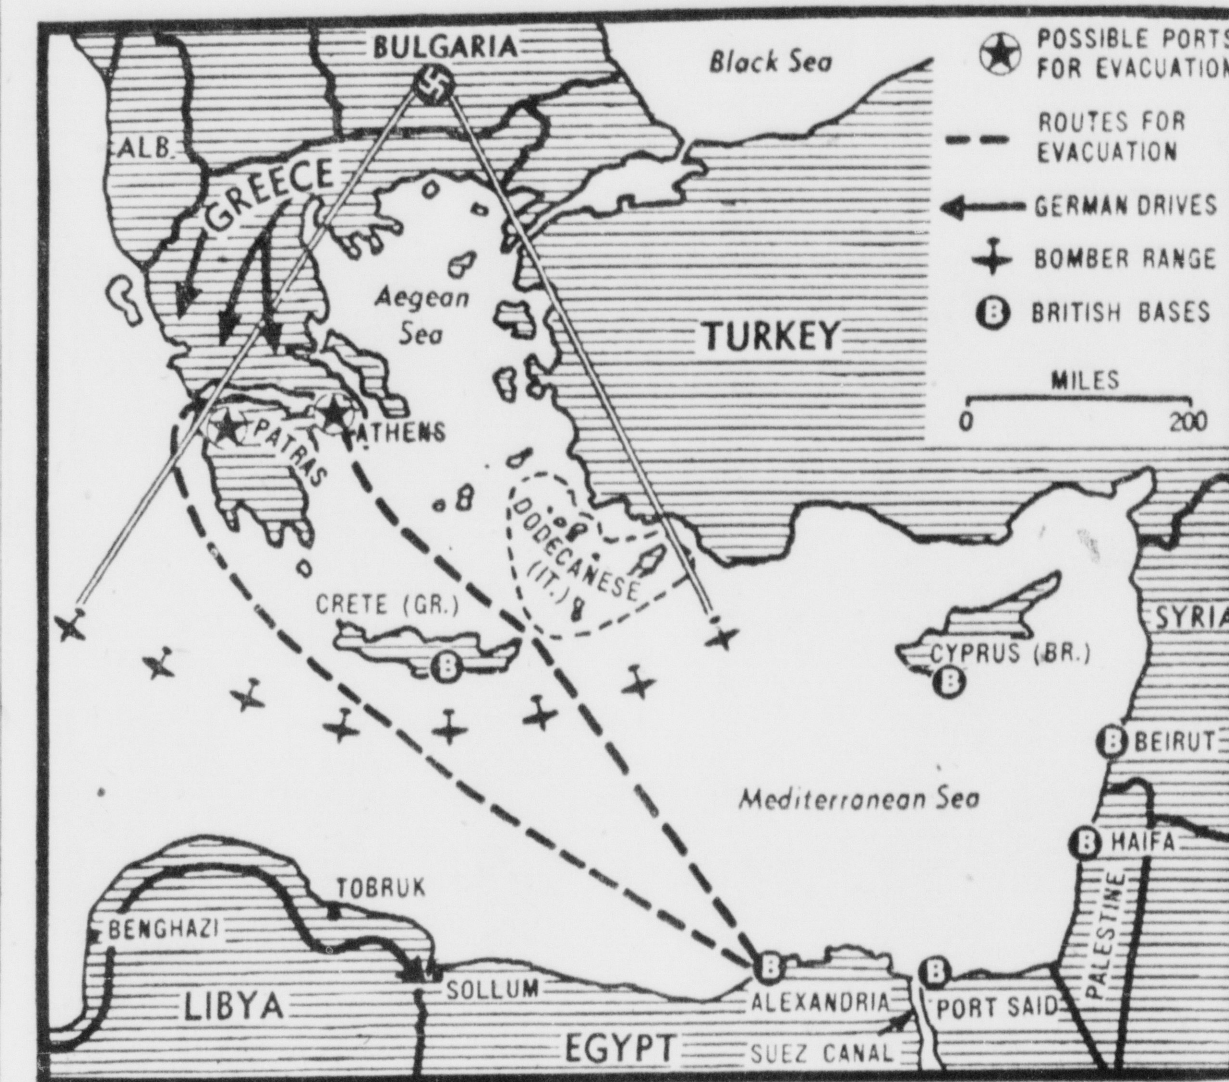

The war can only be won, he asserted, by keeping the main defense of democracy going. That defense, he said, was England. He answered with an emphatic affirmative when questioned whether he was confident that the defense of England would be kept going.

War supplies will be kept moving to Great Britain in undiminished quantities, he declared with emphasis.

Following up that statement, he was asked if the question of convoys now had to be considered to get the supplies through the Nazi blockade. He replied that he did not live in Delphi—the home of a noted Greek orator.

Battle of Greece All But Ended in Allied Debacle; Athens Government Flees

How Nazi Air Force May Batter British Retreat

As the British and Greek forces are pushed back several miles each day under the strong opposition of Nazi land and air forces, the situation may develop into another "Dunkirk." Map shows possible route of the Nazi air force to be used to cover the British retreat.

Germans Within 35 Miles of City of Athens Today

Say "Only God and Weather" Can Save British in Flight to Points of Embarkation

(By The Associated Press)

A Nazi spokesman asserted late today that "another Dunkerque is in full swing" with British expeditionary troops "desperately trying to escape" after Greece's northwest armies surrendered and King George II fled Athens with his government to the Isle of Crete.

The spokesman declared that British losses were approaching casualty figures in the bloody retreat from Flanders at Dunkerque, France, 11 months ago.

"The conquest of all Greece is practically effected," he said.

As the allied situation grew hourly darker—although the British insisted they were still holding their lines—Berlin reports said Nazi panzer columns had "annihilated" the British rearguard at Thermopylae and stormed on through the pass toward Athens.

A front-line dispatch to the Rome newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia asserted that German troops had approached within 35 miles of the Greek capital.

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Withdrawal of King George of the Hellenes and his government from Athens to the neighboring island of Crete presents a picture of determination to carry on the war in the face of dire adversity, but holds out grim prospects for the Greco-British forces facing the Nazi avalanche which has hit the bloody pass of Thermopylae.

This transfer of government of course signals expectation of the fall of Athens in the immediate future. The main concern of the defenders now must be to save as many allied troops and as much equipment as possible. This might be attempted by retreat to the almost water-bound Peloponnese, by sea transport direct to Egypt, or to Crete and thence to northern Africa.

There is grave doubt whether escape by water can be carried out without great losses. The air is swarming with German bombers which have been pouring death and destruction into ports and ships.

It is natural therefore that the phrase "a second Dunkerque" should be cropping up. We shall be wise, however, if we don't allow this association of ideas to upset our perspective, for it is easy to carry the analogy much too far.

The historic British rescue operations at Dunkerque were the culmination of what the German high command at the time characterized as "the greatest destructive battle of all times." Three hundred warships and transports were involved, and some 325,000 British and French troops were snatched from the inferno and ferried to England in some 200 trips across the channel.

Thus in its magnitude, in its immediate effect on the war, and in its potentialities, the present battle bears little relation to that historic event on the beach of Dunkerque. That is not to decry the Nazi triumph in Greece, which is great enough in itself without labeling it with a tag which isn't its own.

President Roosevelt called the turn, as viewed by most neutral military observers, when he remarked in his press conference yesterday that the war won't be won by a single battle.

Senate Committee to Summon Miners and Owners Friday

(By The Associated Press)

The Senate defense investigating committee today asked mine operators and President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers to appear before it Friday unless the soft-coal mines in the eight-state Appalachian area have reopened.

The committee acted in the interest of national defense. Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) said as it had been informed that steel mills, shipyards and other key industries would have to shut down unless an agreement ending the coal shutdown over a wage dispute was reached quickly.

Negotiations looking toward a settlement of the differences proceeded today in New York as reports came from Youngstown, Ohio, of the shutdown of the fifth steel blast furnace due to the shortage of fuel.

New Strike Threat

A new threat of a strike against industries with defense contracts came from 18,000 A. F. of L. construction workers in Southern California.

The more he coasts, the better the boss likes it. Wilkening has a little three-wheeled wagon, similar to a child's scooter and propelled by footpower, which he rides back and forth all day long across a vast section of the 22,400 acres in the plant area.

Paul Kesselring, Palmyra, Reported Missing Last Eve

Paul Kesselring, 45, who resides on the Charles Ortgiesen farm in Palmyra township, mysteriously disappeared yesterday afternoon and state police today were attempting to locate him. When he left the farm yesterday afternoon clad in his working clothes, he was reported to have been driving a 1928 model Buick sedan bearing 1941 Illinois license numbers 663-754.

The Kesselring family resided north of Waukegan in Ogle county until March 1st when they moved to the Ortgiesen farm. At noon yesterday Kesselring went to the house and ate dinner with his family after which he returned to the barn and after a few minutes he told one of the farm hands that he would be gone a short time. Shortly afterward he drove out of the farm yard wearing his work clothes, and no word has since been heard from him.

At the time he left, it was presumed that he had gone to Amboy to obtain chicks from a hatchery. When he had not returned at 6 o'clock last evening, about two hours after chore time, members of the family became alarmed.

Wife Sounds Alarm

About 7:30 o'clock, it was reported, Mrs. Kesselring came to night and reported the incident to the police and sheriff's office, then proceeded to Polo where she informed the police of that place. The Polo police communicated the information to Sergeant Edward Mahan of the state highway police, who obtained a description of

"Significant"

Buffalo, N. Y., April 23 — (AP) — Republican John C. Butler, 52-year-old grain elevator electrical chief, has broken the Democratic party's 23-year hold on the 42nd New York district's congressional seat.

Defeated in 1938 by Schwert, Butler yesterday won by 1,357 votes over the representative's widow, Mrs. Hattie E. Schwert, Democratic and American Labor party nominee. Butler's total was 15,110.

The G. O. P. national committee chairman, Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) said in Washington, Butler's victory "is most significant" in that "it is the same trend which has been in evidence in St. Louis, New York City, Illinois and other mid-western states."

MATHEWS-MAY WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED THIS MORNING AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

Miss Josephine Marie May, eldest of the four daughters of Walter W. Mays of 714 Douglas avenue, was wearing a wedding dress of sheer white morganza, when she became Mrs. Daniel David Mathews this morning in an impressive church ceremony. St. Patrick's Catholic church was the setting when the Rev. Father T. L. Walsh heard Miss May and the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mathews of 646 North Greenwood, Kankakee, exchange their bridal vows in an 8 o'clock nuptial high mass.

Miss May's gown had a wide lace bodice, full sleeves gathered into a band of match lace at the wrists, a pointed collar of lace, and very full skirt. A row of tiny covered buttons trimmed the front of the bodice from the waistline; and her finger-tip length veil fell into six lace-trimmed points from a tiara of seed pearls.

Sweet pea florets were caught into the satin streamers holding her bridal bouquet of white roses and sweetpeas, and she carried a white pearl rosary, her bridegroom's gift. A turquoise ring, presented to her mother by her father before their marriage, was the "something blue" for this morning's bride, and her "something old" was a small gold brooch handed down from her great-grandmother. Mrs. James Dailey, Mr. May walked with his daughter.

Miss Lorella May was her sister's only attendant, and Robert Riblet of Elkhardt, Ind., a cousin of the bride, served Mr. Mathews as best man. LeRoy Stewart of Kankakee and Donald Hilliker of this city were ushers.

As her sister's maid of honor, Lorella wore pink morganza, fashioned similarly to the bridal gown, with a quaint bow-trimmed bonnet to match. Her flowers were pink roses and blue iris.

Mrs. May was dressed in navy blue and white, with a corsage of Tallman roses at her shoulder. Mrs. Mathews, the bridegroom's mother, chose lavender and white, accented by a corsage of violets.

Organ Prelude
Miss Naomi Woll, organist at St. Luke's Episcopal church, played the nuptial prelude, concluding with the traditional "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." Some 200 guests from Baltimore, Md.; Elkhardt, Ind.; Mexico, Mo.; and Kankakee, Chicago, and Dixon attended during Miss Woll's organ recital. Easter lilies and hydrangeas screened the three altars.

Mrs. Theodore Fitzpatrick of Harmon sang Rosewig's "Ave Maria" at offertory. The children's choir sang the remainder of the mass.

A reception for 25 guests was held at the Hotel Dixon, following the ceremony. Jonquil and white tapers trimmed the tables, with an all-white cake rising three tiers high in the center of the bride's table.

Wisconsin Honeymoon
When Mr. Mathews and his bride left for a week's wedding trip through Wisconsin, the new Mrs. Mathews was wearing a modish suit of pink mist wool flannel with black accessories. After their return, they will be at home at 315 North Indiana avenue, Kankakee.

Miss May, who has been guest of honor at a gay round of pre-nuptial parties, has been employed in the auditing department of the Illinois Northern Utilities company since her graduation from Dixon high school in 1934. Mr. Mathews was graduated from Kankakee high school the same year and is with the operating department of the Public Service company of Northern Illinois.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were two cousins of the bride, Miss Marjorie Riblet, surgical nurse at John Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md., and Miss Dolores Riblet, also of Baltimore, who arrived in Dixon last evening.

CLUBWOMEN ARE DINNER GUESTS OF PRESIDENT

Newly-appointed department and committee chairmen of the Dixon Woman's club were guests of the new president, Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, at a buffet supper last evening at the McDaniel home on East Morgan street. Mrs. Earl Auman, the retiring president, presided at the flower-trimmed serving table.

Discussion of plans for the club's 1941-42 program occupied the guests, who were Mrs. R. L. Baird, Mrs. Z. Glatzer, Mrs. A. E. Sheffield, Mrs. Lex Hartzell, Mrs. Gavin Dick, Mrs. Edwin W. Merrick, Jr., Mrs. A. C. Bowers, Mrs. Howard M. Edwards, Mrs. George Christianson, Mrs. Auman, Mrs. Lester Street, Mrs. Homer Senneff, Mrs. A. E. Martha, Miss Alice Richardson, Miss Margaret King, and Miss Mila Wolkne.

SHOWER PARTY

Mrs. Harold Thompson entertained with a shower last evening in compliment to Mrs. Raymond Rence, Mrs. Robert Quaco, Mrs. William Burgess, and Miss Jessie Montgomery shared honors in games.

Mrs. Thompson's guests numbered 28.

Club Speaker

JOEL C. LOOMIS

District Forester Is Guest Speaker for Woman's Club

Joel C. Loomis, district forester from Rock Island, will come to Dixon on Saturday to explain to members of the Dixon Woman's club how the Illinois Forestry division and how it is facing forestry problems in this state. He will address the clubwomen at 2:30 o'clock in the Loveland Community House auditorium.

Mr. Loomis' duties are numerous and varied. As a forester, it is his duty to encourage reforestation of sub-marginal agricultural land, to encourage the proper management of farm woodlands, which includes protection of wild life by preserving suitable food and cover areas, and to encourage the public as a whole to become conservation conscious and cooperate with the various agencies that are striving to rebuild and protect our natural resources.

It is estimated that 30,000,000 acres of fast-vanishing timber lands are burned every 12 months through carelessness, ignorance, and stupidity, costing the nation $40,000,000 a year, crippling many industries, adding to tax burdens, causing incalculable loss of useful and picturesque wild life, and critically weakening this country's preparedness.

The "forest fire season" already is under way in the south and in parts of the east, and begins this month in the west, where most of the remaining virgin forests are located. From now until snow flies, the red menace of forest fire will be busy collecting the huge toll it annually levies upon America.

Mr. Loomis will illustrate his talk with a sound film on forestry.

Mrs. John Wadsworth is chairman of the afternoon's hostess committee. Assisting her will be Mrs. Carl Straw, Mrs. Lester Street, Mrs. O. E. Strock, Miss May Summer, Mrs. T. Sullivan, Miss Carrie Bell Swartz, Mrs. Mayme Sworn, Mrs. George J. Smith, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. W. T. Terrill, Mrs. Crawford Thomas, Mrs. Dorra Thompson, Mrs. H. W. Historians Hear Paper Telling of Early Lee Center

"Old Tales and Memories of Lee Center" was the subject chosen by Miss Jean Hitchcock, when she addressed the Lee County Historical society at their April meeting on Monday evening at the Loveland Community House.

Miss Hitchcock, who said she was unable to vouch for the historical accuracy of the anecdotes, related a number of interesting incidents, just as she remembered hearing them.

Inlet Grove, with its small group of houses, was the beginning of Lee Center, she told her listeners. The Grove, as it was called, became the meeting place of the "Banditti of the Prairies," a gang of horse thieves who operated from Kentucky and Ohio to Iowa and Wisconsin.

The "Banditti" committed many crimes, other than stealing horses, and vigilantes, who undertook to purge the country of the gang members, literally took their lives in their hands, but were successful in their efforts.

Peter Cartwright, the Methodist minister, was described by Miss Hitchcock as a "colorful character who rode over a 600-mile circuit and preached some 18,000 sermons." He was a close friend of the speaker's grandfather, Ebenezer Woodbridge, who came from southern Indiana and settled in Lee Center, because the settlement offered fine educational advantages for his children. He, too, was a minister.

Union Academy in Lee Center was considered one of the best schools in the northwest, attracting some 150 students from surrounding states. A Lyceum course brought prominent lecturers to the town, which was an important center for about half a century, until the railroad changed its route to Amboy.

Plans for a May pilgrimage to Bishop's Hill and Jubilee college were discussed at Monday evening's meeting.

JUNIOR CLUBWOMEN PLAN BREAKFAST

A breakfast meeting was planned for Sunday morning, May 25, in Lowell park, when members of the Junior Woman's club met last evening at the Loveland Community House. Forty-eight members were present.

Mrs. Emerson Rorer gave an account of the 13th district convention held last week at Lena, and Miss Gertrude Kirkpatrick reported on the recent county meeting at Compton.

Miss Kirkpatrick led group singing, with Miss Virginia Jane Lund at the piano. Readings were presented by Donna Jean Schuler and Patricia Graybill.

IN COMEDY ROLE

The role of Sara Larkins, a young country girl, with a rural accent, who is heiress to a fortune, will be portrayed by Mrs. Robert Previtt, in the comedy, "George in a Jam", to be presented by Mrs. Clara Shawger's Sunday school class of the Methodist church at the Loveland Community House, April 29-30.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson and daughter, Louise, returned Monday from Los Angeles, Calif., where they spent the winter.

LYLE WEIDMANS ARE HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Weidman, newlyweds, were guests of honor Saturday evening at a post-nuptial party given by Mrs. Lyle Wade and Miss Beth Atkinson at the Wade home.

Tables were arranged for 500, with Mr. and Mrs. Weidman and the Lucian Ballys sharing honors. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Weidman, Mrs. Byron Atkinson,

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bollman, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Bally, the Misses Florence and Ethel Atkinson, Kenneth Barnhart, Beth Atkinson, and the Wades.

MARION CIRCLE

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actually to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Thought for Today

God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us.—Psalms 67:1.

Mercy to him that shows it, is the rule.—Covper.

New Deal vs. New Deal

Railway Age, a publication devoted to the railroad business, asks a question which every citizen might ponder at this time.

The administration, says this magazine, "is trying to do three quite different things. These are, (1) provide for defense; (2) provide against an economic collapse during or soon after the war; (3) carry on both during and after the war an economic and social revolution."

Now for the question: "How," asks Railway Age, "can it believe it can rationally expect or ask unity when it is working for three objectives the means of attaining which, all experience indicates, can not all be used effectively at the same time; and when it has for one of its objectives, if not the major objective, a revolution which we know at least almost half of the people do not want? We know that almost half of the people do not want the revolution because they voted against it as recently as last November."

Anyone can try to answer that question, or he may elect to evade the issue.

Most Americans, even those who voted against Mr. Roosevelt last November, may ultimately take the attitude that regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's war against private enterprise, they still must go ahead with whatever they can do toward defense. If the partial revolution on the home front is carried to its conclusion it can be upset when a sufficient number of people learn to dislike it.

But defense is necessary even during a political and economic change. The effort toward revolution at home must be considered as a millstone tied to the neck of defense—a millstone to be carried as best its victims can. After the country is made secure against enemies abroad the opposition to revolution can be continued in the way provided for in the constitution.

Evidently defense could be hastened by less emphasis upon the program of so-called reforms.

Closing the North Door

The naval and military defense plan is now complete on which Canada and the United States have worked for six months or more. That is the official announcement of the joint defense board.

It is good news—heartening news. From the uttermost end of the Alaskan archipelago to Greenland there is a back door, or a series of back doors to North America. The interest of Canada and the United States in locking and double-barring those doors is mutual. Together they have settled now on plans to do it.

To undertake jointly, to agree mutually, on how to do it was the first step. That has been taken. Now let no material thing stand in the way of translating those agreements into physical establishments which will cause any power or any combination of powers to hesitate a long time before attempting to violate the Western Hemisphere.

Bill of Duties

Vice President Wallace has suggested that somebody ought to write a Bill of Duties for the United States to balance the Bill of Rights. It's a good idea. We are quite right in deciding that even the defense drive must be carried on without sacrificing hard-won rights. But citizenship in a democracy, and especially citizenship in this free republic, also implies duties. The more we accept as a matter of duty, the less likely it is that any great cry will arise for infringement or curtailment of rights.

Sometimes there is conflict between the two. A few—a very few, it should be said have argued that the draft was an infringement of their rights. But the overwhelming majority sensed and felt immediately that here was a matter of duty.

Keep the rights, yes, by all means! But they can be kept only by holding equally firmly to the duties.

Meet Your Match

"A match has a head but no brains," says a bulletin issued by the national board of fire underwriters, "so when you use a match, use your brains."

It might appear trivial to suggest that people be careful with matches, but Americans light 800 million matches a day, and enough of these matches have been disposed of improperly within a single year to cause 35 million dollars worth of damage to property.

This 35 million dollar loss was due directly to the improper handling or disposal of matches. In addition, of course, there is enormous loss each year due to fires started by means other than matches.

"Next time you use a match," concludes the bulletin, "think it over!"

Britain must now pay a 50 per cent income tax. Bad. But look at France. It now pays a 100 per cent outgo tax.

Advertising man calls for an aristocracy of brains. Ought to be easier to find than the brains of an aristocracy.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, April 22—A Nazi sub sent to the bottom of the Atlantic a few days back a British ship loaded with $5,000,000 worth of our needed strategic war material, rubber. This news was back enough to the official circle (it did not get far outside) but when the Germans got a ship loaded with 3,000 of our airplane fuel pumps shortly thereafter, the war department generals wrung their hands collectively. Faced with one of the worst shortages in this line, all the generals can think of are 3,000 of their priceless pumps sitting on the bottom of the Atlantic.

Generally unknown events, such as these, are whether the current government interest in conveying. That is the source of the greatest pressure at the moment.

Yet there is nothing like a preponderance of official sentiment in favor of trying to leap across that rubicon. As Mr. Roosevelt said, most of those who are shouting for conveying do not know "a hill of beans" (his words) about the problem. The more intimate the knowledge of officials here, the less enthusiasm there is for hasty action.

Apparently there are many drastic steps the British themselves should take first, whether or not there is to be American conveying.

An outstanding British shipping source here is flatly conceding the British have been "fuddy-duddy" about protecting their shipments from us. His good people, he says, are still trying to do this the same way they did it in the last war. They still put slow ships in with the fast ones, holding down the speed of the entire convoy to the point where it is vulnerable to the slow submarines. They do not convey all the way across. They have worked out no adequate sea-air defense around Iceland, although their bases are closer to the shipping lanes than the German bases in France. Trusting to luck, they have refused to concentrate sufficient forces of the fleet to give their convoys adequate protection.

Several moves to correct, and perhaps cure the problem could be taken short of American conveying.

By mistake, it has leaked out our navy has been experimenting in making auxiliary aircraft carriers out of fast merchant ships to patrol sea skies. The S. S. Mormacmail, a passenger-freight ship, is being fitted with an overall landing deck. Such ships could accompany convoys and fight German bombers on the spot.

The British could limit their convoys to ships of the same slow speed, sending their faster ships across individually. They have plenty of freighters capable of making 18 to 20 knots, whereas 15 is tops for a sub. Steering a zig-zag course, these fast freighters would be relatively free of danger from anything except a sub which happened to come up in the right position ready to fire. We know they have such fast freighters because we sold them the Exemplar and the Nightingale, and some others.

Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, which is supplying the British with ships, publicly offered other remedies. His suggested best way to beat the submarine was to bomb their construction and repair stations continuously. He offered other "ameliorating influences," such as increase of ships in the patrol, complete trans-Atlantic protection, air patrols in the convoys.

Land frankly told the British we will only be adding more fuel to their huge bonfire problem burning in the Atlantic by giving them more ships. At the time he was suspected of propagandizing for U. S. conveying, but it is possible he may have been trying politely to stir the British out of their stony naval ways into a more alert use of facilities they already possess.

Arriving yesterday from California, the wife of the celebrated Chicago Cubs rookie explained why her husband hasn't been hitting in the National League.

"All Lou needs is a little hoopsa," she said. "That's a Russian dish something like hamburger. It's rolled in cabbage and served on a bun. He'll begin to hit after he's had some of that."

"You and I know that what we have here will render all other power sources obsolete. Within a year, two years, five years at most, all of America's electric plants, all steam and diesel and gasoline engines, every phase of industry must be revolutionized, as you and I direct! Have you forgotten that?"

"Don't you see, Robert, dear, how far-reaching it is? Almost at once we can control a continent. And then—and then—oh, Robert!"

Green Tax Bills at Passage Stage; To Be Enacted in Week

Will Levy $45,000,000 on Cigarets, Liquor, Oil and Beer

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 23—(AP)—Legislation to carry out Governor Green's $45,000,000 cigarette-liquor tax program was ready for passage in the House and Senate today, just two weeks after the Republican chief executive disclosed his surprise proposal to let the state sales tax drop to two per cent.

In the House, the administration bill to place a two cents a package tax on cigarettes was at the passage stage after weathering determined opposition from a Democratic bloc.

In the Senate, the Green-sponsored bills to place a three per cent tax on oil production and to double the tax on beer and liquor also were ready for passage.

Final legislative enactment of the new taxes, to offset an estimated $60,000,000 biennial loss of revenue by cutting the three per cent sales tax to two per cent, is possible next week.

There was no opposition when the oil production tax, first of its kind on the state's oil industry, was sent to the passage stage in the Senate late yesterday. Governor Green in his budget message two weeks ago estimated the oil tax would yield $6,800,000 for the biennium.

The state beer tax would be raised from two cents to four cents a gallon and the tax on spirits from 50 cents to $1 a gallon under the Green program. The increased taxes will yield $18,800,000 for the biennium.

In the House, a small Democratic bloc attempted unsuccessfully to cut the proposed two-cent cigarette tax to one cent a package, but the move was defeated by a vote of 92 to 32. Administration leaders estimated the cigarette tax will raise $20,000,000 for the biennium.

John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction, learned that administration leaders intend to stick to Governor Green's budget yesterday when $39,920 was lopped off his appropriation request to make the figure conform with the chief executive's recommendations.

Wieland, a Democrat, appeared before the appropriations committee to explain his request for a $368,180 appropriation but without debate the bill was cut to $328,260 as recommended by the governor.

FELLER WARNS PITCH-STEALERS

Cleveland, April 23—(AP)—Bob Feller warned American League pitch-stealers today to stop calling his throws or half their clubs "will be in the hospital."

The 22-year-old strikeout king made it plain he wouldn't toss any "bean balls"—but that the result might be serious if an opposing batter were looking for a curve and got a blazing fast ball which, didn't "break" when it reached his head.

Rapid Robert's thoughts were focused particularly on the third base coaching boxes occupied by those astute baseball observers, Coach Mule Haas of Chicago and Manager Del Baker of Detroit. Haas told the White Sox what to expect when they beat Feller on opening day, 4 to 3, and Baker frequently called them for the Tigers last season although Feller beat the Bengals Saturday, 2 to 1.

Always Knew It "I always knew they could tell what I was going to throw but they didn't try to call them until last year," Feller observed as he made ready to face the St. Louis Browns in his third 1941 start. "I hold my fast ball a little differently than I do my curve, and I wasn't covering my hand up enough with my glove," he said. "I've changed that now, and while the position is a little unnatural I have just as much stuff."

Warning Haas and Baker not to do it again, Feller declared "my pitches are my bread and butter and nobody's going to steal them. If they try, the batters may be picking baseballs out of their ears. If they are looking for a curve and accidentally get a fast one it wouldn't surprise me any."

Gov. Green Signs Act Repealing Three-Day Wait Before Marriage

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 23—(AP)—The Schaumliefel bill repealing the three-day notice requirement before issuance of a marriage license was signed late yesterday by Governor Green. The repealer becomes effective July 1.

The bill sponsored by Rep. Sam Schaumliefel (R-Monmouth) does not change the requirement that couples must undergo tests for venereal disease before a marriage license is issued but reduces the waiting period now in effect.

The Schaumliefel act repeals the present requirement that notice of intention to wed be filed. Couples must still wait, however, for one day after their medical certificates before they can obtain a marriage license.

The one-day waiting period was substituted, Schaumliefel explained, to retain the present bar to so-called "gin marriages."

One feature that will be added to the list of conference activities during the coming year will be a music and drama festival.

American League Champions Are Now in Cellar With More Grief Ahead for Them

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers' plight is something to ponder these days. The American League champions are in the cellar, with only one victory in five games and with more grief lying in wait for the day that Hank Greenberg is inducted into the army.

Nobody expected the Bengals to repeat their surprise pennant triumph of last year, but their collapse this spring is one of the new season's mysteries.

Fighting spirit, as much as any other single factor, carried Detroit to a championship last year, but its morale apparently is gone. The team performed miserably in the grapefruit grind, and this same sluggishness has carried over into the official season. The Tigers' pitching has been good, but their famed hitting has been a myth and their fielding frightful.

Almost a No-Hitter

Yesterday, Bill Dietrich of the Chicago White Sox almost pitched a no-hitter against them. The bespectacled righthander, who pranced into baseball's select society with a no-hitter against the Browns in 1937, didn't give a safety until he had one out in the ninth. Then came an error, a single by Rudy York, the no-hitter was gone, but the game still went to Chicago, 6-3.

Those famous sluggers in Tiger uniforms have made only 24 hits in five games, never more than six in any one contest. Greenberg hasn't hit a home run in three of the affairs, they have made three errors. The net result has been to nullify four well-pitched ball games and cast grave doubt on whether the champions even will make the first division.

Dietrich's conquest, his second in eight days, was not the only pitching classic yesterday.

John Vander Meer of Cincinnati gave Chicago fans a glimpse of his 1938 double no-hit form with a four-hit, 12-strikeout performance that bested Bill Lee and smothered the Cubs, 1-0. Lee allowed only five safeties, but in the sixth inning Lonny Frey beat out a scratch single, went to third on two successive wild pitches, and scored on a single by Ival Goodman.

Giants Are Subdued

Hugh Casey subdued the New York Giants for the second time in three days to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7-4 victory. He allowed only seven hits, and three errors figured in the Giants' scoring. Dolph Camilli drove in five runs with a homer and a single. The loss, however, did not knock the Giants out of the National League lead.

The Boston Red Sox, likewise, held out the American League lead although beaten for the second straight day by the Washington Senators, 12-5. The Red Sox were held to eight hits by Walt Masterson and really came apart at the seams, making four errors and giving up 15 hits.

Less McCrabb held the New York Yankees to six safeties, three of them homers, as the Philadelphia Athletics nudged out a 6-5 decision with five runs in a sloppy sixth inning. The winning marker scored on Dick Siebert's single with the bases loaded in the ninth. Elden Auker's crafty eight-hit hurling gave the St. Louis Browns a 6-3 verdict over the Cleveland Indians, although the Browns were rationed to seven hits by Al Milnar and Clint Brown.

The senior circuit came up with two marathon games. In one, the Phillies snapped a six-game losing streak with two runs in the 14th inning to beat the Boston Bees, 6-4; in the other, the St. Louis Cardinals edged past the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-8 with two runs in the 12th after Pittsburgh had scored once.

Dixon Dukes Trim Princeton in Opening Track Meet

SIX NEW MARKS SET AS LOCALS WIN DUAL EVENT

Rochelle Comes Here For Meet Thursday Afternoon

Records for Dixon-Princeton dual track meets fell away like time and tide before the speed and power of the two squads of athletes yesterday afternoon at Princeton where six new marks were established and two were tied.

The Dukes, coached by A. C. Bowers with the assistance of Marvin Winger, won the meet on 70 points to 48 by the hosts. The Purple and White athletes won first in eight of the 14 events and scored a slam in the shot put.

Leading scorer of the meet was Vaughn, captain of the Dukes who won the high and low hurdles, the broad jump and was third in the high jump for a total of 16 points. George Weigle of Dixon was second high scorer with 11½ points and Horton of Princeton was third with eight.

Records Smashed

A record was tied in the 220-yard dash when Fleming of Princeton stepped off the distance in 24.3 to equal the time set by Boyd of Dixon in 1935.

The half mile record was broken by Weigle of Dixon who beat around the cinder track in 2 minutes 13.5 seconds to better the time of Conant of Princeton who had set the time at 2:15.7 in 1935.

Vaughn of Dixon tied the time of the high hurdles when he was clocked for 16.9 to equal the time of McMillion, also of Dixon, in 1935.

McMillion's 1935 mark of 26 seconds for the low barriers was smashed yesterday by Vaughn who was timed at 24.5.

Rebuck of Dixon set the shot put record at 37 feet 6½ inches in 1935 and yesterday Collins, a 1941 Dixon athlete, set a new mark of 38 feet 4 inches.

New Discus Mark

Shipp of Princeton set a new record for the platter when he heaved the discus 111 feet 9 inches yesterday to better the mark set by Oakford of Dixon in 1937. The Dixon trackman had put the distance at 104 feet.

Frantzen, also of Princeton, set a new height for the pole vault with a mark of 10 feet 10½ inches yesterday to replace the record of Red Ellis of Dixon who had gone 10 feet 7 inches in 1937.

Horton of Princeton smashed the 1935 record of a former Tiger athlete, McMannis, who had set the high jump mark at 5 feet two inches. Horton's mark yesterday was 5 feet 7 inches.

Thursday afternoon the Dukes will be hosts to Rochelle in a dual meet here.

Mace Brown Joins Brooklyn Dodgers

Pittsburgh, April 23.—(AP)—Mace Brown, who wore many a path between the bullpen and the pitchers box during his six years service on the Pittsburgh Pirates hurling today, joins the Brooklyn Dodgers today as the result of a straight cash transaction.

Mace earned the name of fireman by his amazing record as a relief hurler. Although he appeared in 262 games he pitched but 18 complete contests for Pittsburgh.

In 1938, when the Pirates almost won a pennant, Brown pitched in 51 games without completing one, setting a league mark which was beaten only last year by Clyde Shoun, of St. Louis, who hurled in 53 contests. Mace won 15 that year and lost 9 but saved a dozen more when Pirates pitchers faltered. His average earned run per game for six years is 3½.

A spokesman for the Pirates explained Brown is "getting old" and Manager Frankie Frisch wants a young team for his pennant drive next year. The pitcher will be 31 May 21. Estimates of the purchase price paid yesterday by the Dodgers ranged between $10,000 and $25,000.

In Brooklyn Brown will join three former mates, Cookie Lavagetto, Paul Waner and Pitches, Bill Swift. Only one other Pirate hurler is older than he, Rip Sewell, who will be 33 next month.

ROCHELLE WINS TENNIS MATCH WITH STERLING

First Dixon netmen got a taste of it, now Sterling also finds what Rochelle has in tennis talent. Yesterday the Hub city racketeers won four of six matches in a home meet with Sterling for the second victory in two days.

The Rochelle boys won three of four singles and one of two doubles against Sterling and will seek its third successive victory tomorrow night in another home match, this one with East Rockford.

In the games last night Haselton of Rochelle defeated Duhm of Sterling with set scores of 10-5 and 6-3; Larson (R) defeated Haglund (S) 6-2 and 6-1; Kunde (R) defeated Cassens (S) 6-4 and 6-2; Brosavak (S) defeated Ross (R) 6-love, 4-6 and 6-1. In the double Kunde and Larson of Rochelle defeated Jamison and Hermann of Sterling with scores of 7-5 and 6-2. Cassens and Duhm of Sterling won the other doubles match by spilling Haselton and Harris of the hosts with scores of 6-3 and 6-3.

ROCKFORD TRIMS OREGON GOLFERS

Oregon's high school golf team which gave Dixon such a drubbing earlier this week suffered a similar experience yesterday in losing 20½ to 6½ to East Rockford over the losers' Sandy Hollow course.

Jerry Bowman, captain-elect of the Rockford team, led the winners with a brilliant 78 card yesterday as Coach Laude's boys lost only two of the nine matches and swept four matches 3 to 0. Paul Deyo of Rockford came in with the second best card with an 80 and had the best nine-hole score with 38 on the back nine.

Don Wachlin of Oregon defeated Alan Wolfley, 9-1, in the number two match and Bob Etnyre, also of Oregon, defeated Bill North of Rockford, 2½ to ½.

won by one sea fight or by one retreat in Greece or even the whole eastern Mediterranean. In other words, the German victory in the Balkans is a long way from being decisive as regards the whole conflict.

The moral effect of the Nazi blow is bound to be very considerable, however. Britain's greatest worry in this respect must attach to Turkey, and Ankara's reaction will be awaited anxiously by London. Should the Turks by any chance give way to the heavy Nazi pressure which is being applied to them, and slip the bond which binds them to Britain, that would be a heavier setback to the allied cause than the loss of the battle of the Balkans.

In this connection the German occupation of the strategic Greek island of Samothrace, fifty miles from the mouth of the Dardanelles, must have had a disquieting effect both in Turkey and in England. This move might mean much or little, but it must suggest to Turkish minds the possibility of a German attempt to force the Dardanelles and break into the Near East.

Samothrace would be a very useful base for such an operation, especially since it would provide airbases from which the German air force could operate. There was a report some time ago that the British had captured this island. One wonders why they didn't.

Germans Within

guilted by Nazi invaders: "Have courage—good days will come again."

The Italian high command said the Greek veterans of the six-month Albanian campaign had capitulated last night after they were trapped in a pincer maneuver of fascist troops driving down the Italian coast, and a German thrust from the east through Ioannina.

King George declared his generals in Epirus signed the armistice "without our knowing it." But the Greeks in the north-west, where Italians said they had been ordered to hold out at all costs to cover the right flank, apparently clung to their mountain defenses long enough for other Greek forces and the British to withdraw along the road to Athens.

Battle of Thermopylae

A modern battle of Thermopylae was reported fought 100 miles northwest of the capital, and authorized Germans declared today the Nazi attack had crushed the British defense and taken the pass.

German military leaders appeared to be taking a page from ancient history by turning their high-powered war machine into an action paralleling the strategy of Xerxes who smashed the Greeks and took Athens in 480 B. C.

Athens itself had seven alarms in 24 hours yesterday, but was not bombed. The raiders struck heavily, however, at the Port of Piraeus, five miles away, and other coastal points nearby.

German military commentators said the British were in a "pinch" and that the Aegean fight had developed into a "verfolgung"—a follow-through after a break in resistance. The battle, they said, was "nearing the end with the question remaining how many would be captured."

On Britain's home front, the port city of Plymouth was blasted for the second successive night in a five-hour bombing attack which started large fires and caused widespread damage.

The RAF struck again overnight at the German naval base at Brest, on the French coast.

Nye in Ogle County court Tuesday afternoon, after Heather, who was arrested by Officer Victor Westendorf in Oregon April 20, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving.

Rond-the-World Voyage—

Liberty Is Short-Lived—

Arthur Beard of this city, who according to the police, was released from the state work farm at Vandavia over the week end after a one year sentence, was arrested by police Monday night, when he was reported to have been attempting to enter a residence. Arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis in police court yesterday, he was assessed a fine of $200 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge and in default of the fine was remanded to the county jail.

New Trial Plea Denied—

Judge Grover Gehant in Lee County court today denied a motion for a new trial in the action brought against Robert Thorngren of Coleta, 21-year-old truck driver, who was found guilty by a jury of a reckless driving charge on March 26. A petition was filed requesting probation and this was referred to County Probation Officer Mrs. Louis Gramp for investigation. Judge Gehant will act on the petition for probation at 10 o'clock on the morning of April 30.

Not Soil Depleting—

The Lee County Conservation office today received a ruling from the department of agriculture that tomatoes, snap beans, sweet corn and peas, contracted to canning companies, will not be judged as soil depleting and will not be figured in the total acreage of soil-depleting crops. The ruling has been made, it is explained, because of the greater demand for these vegetables for canning as a part of the national defense program.

Pupils Visit Court House—

Miss Esther Barton, principal of the Lincoln school, accompanied the class of eighth grade pupils on a tour of the court house today. Their first visit was to the County court room where Judge Grover Gehant, Mrs. Louis Gramp, probation officer; Mrs. Lucille Poole, court reporter; and Deputy Sheriff Fred A. Richardson explained the functions of their various departments. The class then went to the Circuit court room and witnessed the selection of a jury in a damage action. Later the other departments in the court house were visited.

Freeport Mayor Loses $20,000 Damage Action

Freeport, Ill., April 23—(AP)—A Stephenson county Circuit court jury last night acquitted William E. Buck, tavernkeeper, and former Mayor James W. Nelson of a libel charge brought by Mayor Luke Stuart.

Stuart had sued for $20,000 damages. He charged the defendants were authors of anonymous political pamphlets issued in 1939 which he said contained libelous statements concerning him in connection with the city's purchase of a private water company's system in 1937.

Members of First Aid teams of two Scout troops of the Methodist church in Dixon who will compete in a four state regional contest in Chicago Saturday after having won high ratings in previous competition. Members of the two successful competing teams, reading from left to right are: Back row—Senior Scouters Jack Keegan and Homer Schildberg, Troop Committeeman W. O. Moore. Members of Troop 572, third row—Scouts Pierson, Hood, Ash, Byerhoff. Third row—Scouts B. Frazer, Whiting, Woodward, Wentling, Ware. Front row—Members of First Aid crew, troop 72—Scouts Higgs, Love, Stevens, Goodman and W. Frazer.

Chiefly responsible for the success of the two Boy Scout first aid teams pictured above are Homer Schildberg and Jack Keegan, senior Scouters, who have spent many evenings in the past two months instructing the teams in the fundamentals of first aid to the injured. Evidence of this success lies in the fact that of about fifteen teams which participated in the Blackhawk Area contest at Rockford several weeks ago, Troops 72 and 572 of Dixon and Troop 92 of Sterling were the only teams from this Council to earn "A" ratings at the sectional First-Aid-O-Ral at Janesville, Wisconsin, the following week. George Davis is Scoutmaster of Troop 92 of Sterling. The final test, however, will come on next Saturday at the four-state Regional contest in Chicago. In this meet, 180 teams, having won "A" ratings in sectional meets all over four states, will compete in Senior Red Cross competition. Any teams earning "A" rating at Chicago will automatically be barred from any further first aid competition. Last year the Methodist church team earned "A" ratings up to the sectional meet at Freeport, where they were eliminated with a "B" rating.

Until a little over a year ago, the Methodist church had only Troop 72, composed of several younger patrols and a leadership or senior patrol which included the Junior Assistant Scoutmasters and the Senior Patrol Leader. However, this senior patrol then formed the "Sequoia" Explorer Scout Troop No. 572, with Homer B. Schildberg as Scoutmaster and adviser. Although the new troop was composed of only seven or eight Scouts who were 15 years of age and First Class rank or above, they began to attempt to prove their ability in a number of ways in a short time.

At Blackhawk Area Camp Delavan, Wisconsin in 1939, the Scouts of 572 (then in Troop 72) organized the Blackhawk Patrol. This patrol won three-fourths of all personal and camp site inspections and served as color guard five out of seven days.

Patrols of Scouts from 72 and 572 have won among the higher honors with their efforts at various Merit Badge expositions in the council and district. Both troops have been quite active during all camping seasons in recent years, besides participating in numerous Scouting circuses and Scoutcraft contests. The large Scouting exhibit and demonstration in Vaile & O'Malley's show window last year were sponsored by the Scouts now in the "Sequoia" troop. A "Bean Feed" and Scouting Outing," which was attended by close to 100 Scouts and Cubs of Dixon in the fall of 1939, was prepared and managed successfully by the older Scouts of the troops. A more recent service to Scouting occurred the earlier part of this year when Jack Keegan, assisted by the older boys, conducted a first aid instruction course for all interested boys in Dixon above the age of 12. Those who completed the course satisfactorily were awarded Junior Red Cross certificates.

During the Christmas vacation of 1939, Homer Schildberg and six Scouts took a motor-camping trip to New Orleans and back, stopping at points of scenic interest. Last August, Jack Keegan and four Scouts spent four weeks traveling in Mexico, progressing as far as 1100 miles beyond the border.

Other accomplishments of Troop 572 include a very successful Wildlife Preservation Program in the fall of last year and a "goodfellow drive" of their own which added a helpful sum to the regular Goodfellow Drive conducted each Christmas season.

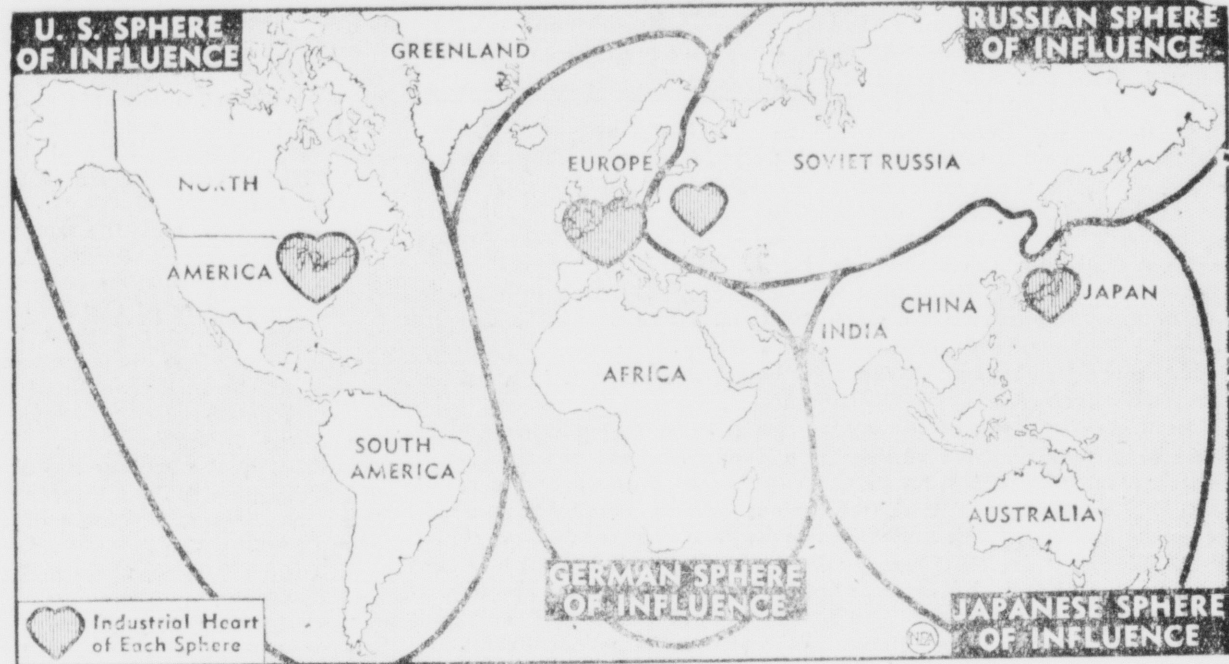

In the two troops there are seven or eight Scouts who also act as Cub Scout den leaders. A new program of advancement and activities which has been started foretells much future progress in the organization and structure of both troops.
